NOBODY OWNS ME

A dream of justice, a fight for love

A story about Lisa growing up with her single father, he works as a hardener in a small Swedish industrial town - a working class hero, her father slowly breaks down by the ruthless time clock. The fight for social change is confronted by the fear of standing out. Humor becomes a life strategy for a small family during the rise and fall of the "Swedish Middle Way". After her parent's sudden divorce, Lisa stays to live with her father. Despite his self-medication with alcohol, their relationship grows stronger every day. They are each other's best friends and they share a conviction: the idea that all people are of equal value.

But as Lisa grows older she is torn between shame and loyalty. Her father is sinking deeper and deeper into alcoholism and one day she is forced to choose – leave him or go under herself. Despite all the difficulties and the inevitable betrayal, Nobody Owns Me is a daughter's deeply touching declaration of unconditional love for her father, and a promise to pick up the fight for what is right.

DIRECTOR - KJELL-ÅKE ANDERSSON

Kjell-Åke Andersson, born 1949 in Malmö, studied drama, theater and film at the University of Lund. 1975-1977 he studied photography at Stockholm Academy of Dramatic Arts.

Between the years 1978-84, Kjell-Åke worked at Tiger Film, the company he founded with producer Börje Hansson ("The Hypnotist") and director Kjell Sundvall ("The Hunters", "False Trail"). The cooperation resulted in many praised and talked about features for TV.

As a script writer and director he has made the features "Friends" (1988), based on a play by Kobo Abe, the critically acclaimed and box-office hit "My Big Fat Father" (1992), the multi-award winning feature "Christmas Oratorio" (1996), "Family Secrets"(2001), The Wallander film "Before the Frost"(2005) and "Somewhere Else"(2011).
